The Daily Press

HONGKONG, July 30th, 1870.

An extract, which is given elsewhere, of the proceedings in the French Legislative Council with reference to the proposition of Mr. Jules Ferry, in 1869, is of great interest at the present time, as indicating the feeling existing in that country a few days previous to the receipt of the news of the Tientsin Massacre.

It is merely upon the grounds of its being possible that foreign Missionaries would be persecuted, the Committee on the Budget was willing to pass a vote for the increase of the French Forces in these parts, it may be taken as certain that it will not hesitate as to its action, when the news arrives that that contingency has actually arisen. It cannot be doubted that the horrible details of the Tientsin Massacre will produce a profound sensation, not only throughout France, but throughout Europe, and that France will not only be prepared to adopt a strong line of action, but will be morally supported by other powers in doing so. One or two individual nations might desire, for political objects, to restrain her, but there is good reason to believe that any such attempt would prove futile. The force of such moral restraint depends upon two elements—first the strength of feeling among the people of the nation against whom it is desired to exercise it, and secondly, the inherent justice of the cause for which it is desired to go to war. If the feeling in the country aggrieved is weak, the protestations of other nations exercise a powerful influence, by increasing the opposition among the masses to the action which the government proposes to adopt. If the cause is just, a protest by one nation becomes backed at last, morally by others; and, though there may be strong feeling in favour of severe action among the whole people, it is certain to become weakened by its being evident that acting upon it will entail at least the moral, if not the active, opposition of other nations. But when the feelings aroused by a national outrage are widespread and strong, and when the cause is one whose justice cannot be questioned, both the above influences have little restraining force. The protest of an individual nation weighs nothing against the moral support of that large section which is always in favour of right, and can have no effect in lessening the desire of the masses of the nation aggrieved to avenge the injury which has been offered to it. Such it seems certain will be the position of France in the present case. Her Government will receive the full support of the people, and will be little inclined to listen to the protests of other nations, who have absolutely no right to interfere in such a matter. Foreigners out here are apt in some degree to fall into a similar error, that which has evidently been fallen into by the Chinese.
Perceiving that matters on the spot are as a rule, settled by the combined action of the French Representatives, it is imagined that similar co-operation will be always deemed essential at home in affairs relating to China. But in a case where an individual nation has been injured, no such considerations can apply, except in favour of cooperation to enable her to avenge the outrage.
No country can with any show of reason attempt to dictate to France what reparation she shall exact from China for the cold-blooded murder of her children; and it may be taken as being extremely improbable that any nation will do so, and still more improbable that a protest of the kind will have any effect upon the course of events.

Like a conjuring trick, it is very simple when it is explained. The whole secret of the arrangement with reference to the Special Fund turns out to be in a nutshell. About $230,000 more than were really required were voted last year in the Budget for the current year, and it was at the same time proposed to make certain appropriations from the Special Fund, partly to meet the source in previous years, and partly to provide means by which it was proposed to supplement the receipts for the current year. Dr. Double was expressed at the time in these columns as to whether the Hong Government would allow the appropriations from the Special Fund to be made; and apprehension was also given utterance to that, if the Government should not allow these sums, the Colony would be in a difficult position, because, in the face of much difficulty, which Governor MacDonnell's financial statement gave it out caused to meet the current expenditure, it would have in addition to make arrangements to repay the sum disbursed by the Hong Government from the Special Fund.
These fears were confirmed by a despatch from EARL GRANVILLE, ordering that only $50,000 from the Special Fund should be used for the purposes of Police, and that the other moneys appropriated, in round numbers $140,000, should be returned. It was then thought to be quite clear that the Colony would be called upon to pay up this sum; and the next meeting of the Council, when it was expected that His Excellency Sir RICHARD MACDONNELL would explain the real difficulty, was looked forward with much interest, and some anxiety. By and by, however, the Governor, left on account of sickness, so that it became evident that an explanation from him personally would be forfeiting; but at last a meeting of the Council was convened, and the long expected application was brought forward, and it now appears that, exactly as we predicted, the expenditure for the current year is characterised as much by "laying" as that for last year was by "expenses." It was of course naturally expected that the chief business of the meeting on Thursday would be bringing forward the estimates for the year 1871; but to the surprise of every one, cleaned up accounts of the Supplemental Estimates for 1870, were alone laid on the table, showing the results above indicated.

The public must, by this time, be so heartily sick of the unfortunate financial middle which has been made, that it would be useless to enter into more than a very general review of the matter. To discuss in detail the expenditure for the year 1870 on the 30th July of that year, is a labour from which the most energetic may be reasonably excused.

In the financial statement read on Thursday, it is suggested that it would be a great improvement if the Estimates were framed in the year for which they are to take effect. No doubt it is a little earlier than the end of July, or more accurately, sometimes in August, the month in which the present Ordinances will be passed.

The general bearing of the matter may, however, be easily explained. As mentioned above, it is extremely simple. The public were in reality made to pay the sum appropriated from the Special Fund, and the Council, in consequence, was naturally quickly dissatisfied, inasmuch that it is the Estimates passed last September, those Estimates being not so large a scale as to be capable of meeting the requirements of the current year, and paying back the sum appropriated from the Special Fund, should the Government at home not allow them. If they refused the amounts, the expenditure of the Colony would be conducted upon a smaller scale, in fact, on something like a reasonable basis, as this actually been the case. Had the Government allowed the appropriations, there would have been a glorious game of cat-and-mouse, as exactly so much money now clearly proved to be superfluous would have been squandered. That this would have been the fact is perfectly clear from the statement of Sir RICHARD MACDONNELL to the Council last September, that he would not recommend them to look for a surplus of more than $30,000 at the end of the current year.
The surplus actually was $233,000, showing that the difference between administering the Colony with something like economy and the scale which Sir RICHARD MACDONNELL desired, is exactly $203,000, or say one-fourth of the gross annual revenue! In this way the whole difficulty is set right. The public, impressed with the idea that every resource had been strained before the gambling money was taken, looked with anxiety upon having to pay back the $140,000 disbursed by EARL GRANVILLE; but the truth was "extracted under the Oath" of Sir RICHARD MACDONNELL's financial statements.
The public of Hongkong have long been fearing the dreadful operation, and when it was announced that the Council would meet on the 28th inst., everybody fully expected that the inevitable "scrunch" was coming; but now, the truth is now held up to our wondering gaze, and we are assured that it was beautifully extracted by Sir RICHARD in September last year.

CITY HALL MEETING.
A meeting of the Shareholders, Subscribers, and others interested in the City Hall, was held yesterday at 2 p.m. in St. Andrew's Hall, the Hon. H. B. CHAN, in the chair. Present, Messrs. LANE, CRAWFORD & Co., and three other gentlemen. The report of the Committee was as follows:-

The last meeting of the Shareholders and Subscribers of the City Hall was held on the 25th June, 1869, in this hall.
At that meeting the Members of the Building Committee, having accomplished the work entrusted to them, resigned their office, and a new Committee was thereupon elected for the purpose of taking over and providing for the completion of the building and the carrying out of the objects of the Corporation. Full powers were given them to make such regulations and to make such arrangements as they might deem proper for the completion of the building, and to make such regulations and to make such arrangements as they might
